

Bibliologically--it is the Bible. There just is NO room for human speculation in spiritual matters. Practical theology--it is all bound up in the Person and Work of Christ. All practicum is in HIM. Any sort of ascetic approach is at once to be considered but an activity of the flesh to govern the life. All must be related to Jesus Christ our Lord. You just don't get concerned about life now or hereafter if you've really put Christ where He belongs in your life. What does the Lord Jesus really mean to you today? If you've followed Paul's argument, you will have to admit He's everything! Amen.
