

Yearly Bible Reading Schedule

Bob McCabe

The purpose of this yearly Bible reading schedule is to assist believers in maintaining a disciplined approach to annually reading the Bible. My plan with this program is to provide a measurable checklist for each book and chapter of the Bible to help Christians methodically keep track of what they are reading from Scripture. While it is important with any Bible reading schedule to gain an understanding of the details of God's Word and a consequential comprehension of God's all-encompassing plan that He is unfolding in creation, the heart of this daily reading schedule is that believers will commune with and worship our triune God.

Because of my background, I have a desire to see believers grow spiritually through a regular reading of the Word of God and this has progressively grown over 40 years of ministry. This concern has been primarily shaped by two factors: my educational and ministry background. Initially, I earned a Th.D. in Old Testament Languages and Literature from Grace Theological Seminary in 1985. In addition, this is the result of my having been the pastor of a church, serving as an interim pastor in a few churches, and preaching in many churches over the course of my 37 years of teaching on a college and seminary level. Over the course of these years, I have observed that there is a correlation between one's commitment to knowing Scripture and their spiritual growth.

Let me explain why I have set up this Bible reading schedule and provide some helpful information about how it works. Since the LORD speaks to us today through His Word, we must read Scripture to develop our relationship with him. Jesus said, "man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that comes from the mouth of God" (Matt 4:4). A person is only regenerated in conjunction with the gospel of Jesus Christ as recorded in Scripture (Rom 10:17; Jam 1:18). Growth in holiness comes through reading Scripture (Ps 119:50; 2 Tim 3:16–17). It is also through the Word that we come to know more completely about God with his awesome perfections and about his wondrous ways in creation and providence.

The following Bible reading schedule is based on the order of books in the Protestant Canon of Scripture. Based upon the 1189 chapters and psalms found in our Canon, a person would be able to read the entire Bible in a year if they only read 3.26 chapters or psalms per day. Since it is virtually impossible to precisely read 3.26 chapters or psalms per day, a manageable schedule would be helpful to assist us so that we could annually read through Bible.

In my early years as a Christian, I started reading in Genesis 1 and progressively read through Revelation 22 in a year. Following those early years, my reading was not always as systematic. However, for the past few years, I have followed Ligonier's 52-week Bible reading plan. What I have found helpful with this plan is that it mixes the seven genres of the Bible (Law, History, Psalms, Poetry, Prophecy, Gospels, and Epistles) with each week's reading schedule. A minor glitch for me is that the readings vary in length. For example, on one morning I read Revelation 7–11 but the following day I read the Song of Solomon 3–4 and the day after that Psalms 143–145. Nevertheless, there are other Bible reading programs that preserve a sensitivity for the various genres found in Scripture. Of these approaches, one in particular satisfies my reading expectations. This approach was developed by Jason DeRouchie, "The Kingdom Bible Plan."¹ This reading plan is excellent; however, a problem for most people in our church is that this plan follows the order of books in the Hebrew Canon, which varies at key junctures from the Protestant Canon² along with our New Testament books. So, what I have done with the following reading schedule is to adapt Dr. DeRouchie's format to the Protestant Canon since this is drawn from the Bible that the average Christian reads.

To make this manageable, the following schedule is designed for the Bible to be read over the course of 300 days. Each month of the year is based on 25 days in the month. In addition, each day of the month is divided into four categories/headings: (1) Old Testament Law, Old Testament Historical Books & Psalms (abbreviated in the following chart as "OTL, OTHB & Pss"); (2) Old Testament Historical Books, Wisdom & Psalms ("OTHB, Wisd & Pss"); (3) Old Testament Prophets & Psalms ("OTProp & Pss"); (4) Psalms & New Testament ("Pss & NT"). Four chapters/psalms are read each day. The remaining few days of each month gives each person some time to catch up on their reading if they are behind for that month. These few days also allow for a little more serious daily Bible study or even more intense Bible memorization.

Let me also explain each category/heading at the top of each of the ensuing 12 pages, and how these categories affect the reading schedule. Old Testament Law refers to the first five books of Bible, the Pentateuch: Genesis–Deuteronomy; Old Testament Historical Books refers to Joshua–Esther; Wisdom to Job–Song of Solomon; Old Testament Prophets to Isaiah–Malachi; New Testament to Matthew–Revelation. The design with reading "OTL, OTHB & Pss" is for you to read the historical material of the Old Testament according to the listed order in the Bible along with selected Psalms; with reading "OTHB, Wisd & Pss" is to cover the remainder of the Old Testament Historical Books (1 Kings 1–Esther 10) along with the Wisdom Literature (Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes & Song of Solomon) as well as labeled Psalms; with "OTProp & Pss" to read all 17 Prophetic Books as well as designated Psalms; and with "Pss & NT" to cover the the remaining Psalms and the New Testament. Because the Psalms were composed over almost 1000 years of Israel's history, I have interspersed them with each category in order to balance out the reading schedule.

With the following 12 pages for each month's reading, each page with the 25 reading selections for a designated month has a box just to the left of each passage. When you have completed the specified Bible passage, you should put a check in the box after reading it. In addition, if you email me at rvmccabe@icloud.com, I will send you an electronic copy to be downloaded to your computer. This document has been designed so that if you click your mouse in the box, it will place an "X" in the box. By marking each reading, it will be easier for you to keep track of what you have read.³

As you use this, if you see any errors or see improvements that would assist in making this reading schedule as user friendly as possible, let me know as soon as possible. May we commit ourselves to becoming people of the Bible so that we can grow in our devotion and love to our God through Christ Jesus our Lord.

² We should note, however, that the Hebrew Canon has the exact same books as is contained in the Protestant Canon.

³ I want to thank Dr. Matt Postiff for going through this yearly Bible reading program and using his computer expertise to work out the details of making an electronic form of this in Word possible. He is the pastor of Fellowship Bible Church in Ann Arbor, MI.
